1. Purpose

ibex is committed to the security and safety of all employees, visitors, clients, and third-party contractors. This policy aims to standardize the process of providing and verifying individuals requiring access to the company premises by implementing standard security controls at the main entry and exit points, reception, and common areas.

Managing ID and badge access is critical for several reasons, including:

- 1.1. Security: ID and badge access management helps to ensure that only authorized persons are allowed access to a facility or specific areas within the facility. This can help to prevent theft, vandalism, and other security breaches.
- 1.2. Safety: ID and badge access management can help ensure that employees and visitors are kept safe by preventing unauthorized access to areas that may be hazardous or pose a risk to health and safety.
- 1.3. Compliance: Depending on the nature of the business, certain industries may be required to comply with regulations related to access control and identification, such as data privacy laws, industry-specific regulations, and occupational health and safety regulations.
- 1.4. Accountability: ID and badge access management can help to promote accountability and traceability, making it easier to identify who has accessed certain areas and when.
- 1.5. Employee Management: Managing ID and badge access can also help with employee management by tracking employee attendance and ensuring that employees are in the correct location at the correct time.
- 1.6. Emergency Response: Effective ID and badge access management can aid in emergency response situations by providing accurate information about who is present in the building. This can be critical for emergency services during evacuations or rescue operations.
- 1.7. Visitor Management: By standardizing the process of issuing temporary badges to visitors, the company can ensure that all visitors are accounted for and that they do not have unrestricted access to sensitive areas.
- 1.8. Confidentiality: In environments where sensitive or proprietary information is handled, controlling access helps protect against unauthorized disclosure of confidential information.
- 1.9. Operational Efficiency: Streamlined access control procedures can improve operational efficiency by reducing the time and resources needed to manage physical security and monitor access points.
- 1.10. Technology Integration: Modern ID and badge systems can be integrated with other security technologies and processing systems and stay compliant with physical security requirements needed to be put in place for regulations and client-driven requirements, where applicable.
- 1.11. Credential Management: The policy ensures that badges and ID credentials are issued, revoked, and managed systematically, reducing the risk of lost or stolen credentials being used to gain unauthorized access.
- 1.12. Cultural and Ethical Considerations: Implementing a fair and transparent ID and access badge policy demonstrates the company's commitment to ethical practices and a respectful workplace culture, which can enhance employee morale and trust.
- 1.13. Loss Prevention: By controlling access to inventory, equipment, and other valuable assets, the policy can help reduce incidents of loss due to theft or misplacement.

- 1.14. Audit and Review: Regular audits and reviews of access logs and badge usage can help identify potential security weaknesses and ensure ongoing compliance with internal policies and external regulations.
