1. Purpose

- 1.1. IBEX Global Solutions Philippines Inc. (the “Company”) believes that it is critical to conduct our business with the highest ethical standards that demonstrate legally compliant, professional and ethical conduct. This policy enables us to provide the best possible customer service and operational excellence to our clients and their customers. This Global Code of Conduct and Ethics (the “Code”) covers a wide range of business practices and procedures, although it cannot address every situation that may arise. The Code establishes operating principles that guide our behaviors and communications in relationships with clients, their customers, external business relationships, and our employees. The Code is not a contract, and it may be amended from time to time by the Company through posting on our Company intranet. As with all policies, employees should check regularly to ensure they remain aware of all requirements of the Code and ensure compliance.

2. Scope

- 2.1. The Code applies to all employees under IBEX Global Solutions Philippines Inc. This governs all work conducted by employees unless there are client-specific rules and directives implemented for specific campaigns, such as Zero Tolerance Policies (ZTP), in which case, the ZTP shall supersede any contradicting or conflicting section of this Code of Conduct.
- 2.2. “Employees” as used in this Code includes the Company’s directors, consultants and contractors. In addition to operating under the Code, the employees of our Company conduct business and engage in professional relationships according to a set of Values that include Respect, Integrity, Transparency and Excellence. Operating under the Code, and in accordance to our Values, creates a positive environment that drives individual and business success.

3. Roles and Responsibilities

- 3.1. The implementation of a Code of Conduct is a shared responsibility between different stakeholders within an organization. The following are some of the critical roles and responsibilities of various stakeholders in implementing the Code of Conduct:
- 3.2. Management: Management has a critical role in implementing the Code of Conduct by setting the tone at the top and modeling the expected behavior. Management is responsible for communicating the Code of Conduct to all employees, ensuring that it is followed, and taking appropriate action when it is not.
- 3.3. Human Resources: Human Resources (HR) plays a key role in implementing the Code of Conduct by providing training to employees on the Code of Conduct and ensuring that all employees receive a copy of the Code. HR is also responsible for investigating any reported violations of the Code and taking appropriate disciplinary action.
- 3.4. Employees: Employees have a responsibility to read and understand the Code of Conduct, follow its provisions, and report any violations they witness or become aware of.
- 3.5. Quality Assurance Team: The Quality Assurance Team is responsible for reviewing agent transactions for quality and imposing the Zero Tolerance Policy (ZTP) to ensure that all agents adhere to the Code of Conduct and provide high-quality customer service.
- 3.6. Compliance Team: The Compliance Team is responsible for reviewing company processes and ensuring that they comply with physical and logical security guidelines and other compliance requirements.
- 3.7. Facilities and Security Administration: The Facilities and Security Administration is responsible for enforcing house rules, security, health, and safety guidelines to ensure that the workplace environment is safe and conducive to work.

- 3.8. Data Protection Officer (DPO): The DPO is the ibex—designated officer to enforce the Data Privacy Act of the Philippines in compliance to the National Privacy Commission of the Philippines.

4. Policy

4.1. LEGAL COMPLIANCE in HOME and HOST LOCATIONS:

- 4.1.1. Compliance with the letter and spirit of applicable laws and government regulations wherever the Company operates its business is required. Additionally, employees should observe and respect local cultures, traditions and customs of a host location to the extent that they do not conflict with the Code. Although employees may not be aware of certain laws, cultures or customs when visiting or working in new locations, employees are responsible for seeking guidance and consulting with members of management or Human Resources to ensure adherence. The Code outlines provisions that are legally compliant in all the Company's business locations, although any stricter requirements of applicable local laws may prevail. The Company retains the right to modify any or all of the Code at any time and from time to time in its sole discretion, subject to applicable laws and government regulations. All changes will be promptly disclosed. Employees should consult with their Manager or Human Resources to address any questions or concerns regarding interpretation as needed.

4.2. WORKPLACE ENVIRONMENT and SERVICE:

- 4.2.1. As a service-based organization, the Company's employees are key to our business success. We treat each other, our clients, and their customers with respect, courtesy, and dignity. We value diversity and support equal employment opportunity. Employees are hired, promoted and compensated based on evaluation of their individual qualifications, demonstrated performance, and in accordance with legal standards and fair pay practices.
- 4.2.2. Employees are required to perform their jobs to the best of their ability and maintain compliance with work rules that govern timekeeping, work schedules, and general operating policies and practices. The Company believes in "coaching to success" and is supportive of training and developing its employees. Performance is monitored and feedback provided to enhance performance as needed.
- 4.2.3. Creating a positive work environment, supported by Company Values and the Code, provides an environment conducive to achieving the Company's business goals and employees' professional goals. The Company is firmly committed to providing an environment free from any kind of discrimination, harassment or threats of violence. Illegal drugs or weapons are not tolerated under any circumstance on any premises in which the Company does business.
- 4.2.4. The Company is committed to providing a safe, clean and healthy workplace that meets local legal requirements to ensure proper safety standards. Employees share responsibility in maintaining workplace standards by following safety program regulations and good health practices, and by reporting accidents, injuries and unsafe conditions.

- 4.2.5. The Company promotes an environment of open communication to resolve problems, address concerns and benefit from new ideas from its employees. We believe that an environment of trust and mutual respect provides the groundwork to yield cooperation, collaboration, and process improvements, and also enhances employee development.
- 4.2.6. It is the policy of the Company to ensure employee communications and contact with other employees, clients, their customers, potential customers and vendors are done with the highest level of respect, honesty and professionalism. Employees are expected to maintain a professional manner at all times in order to provide the highest quality of customer service both internally and externally.
- 4.2.7. A variety of Work Rules and general business practices have been established by the Company including the Employee Handbook and training programs that are provided to Company employees through various delivery channels. We endeavor to ensure all employees have the training and tools needed to perform their jobs successfully so they can provide superior service and support to our clients, their customers and each other.

4.3. CONFIDENTIALITY:

- 4.3.1. IBEX Global Solutions is committed to safeguarding confidential information of the Company, its clients, their customers, third party business partners and its employees. Employees are responsible for protecting and maintaining confidential information that is entrusted to them including non-public or proprietary Company information, clients' and their customers' information, third-party business partners' information, and the personal information of employees in accordance with legal requirements and standard safekeeping practices. Confidential information should be protected from unauthorized disclosure, inappropriate use or theft. Confidential information must not be used for fraudulent purposes or for personal benefit or financial gain. Access, transmission, storage, disclosure, and use of confidential information must be for appropriate and legitimate business use. Confidential information should be properly retained or disposed of as authorized. Employees have limited rights to privacy regarding their personal property, which should be safeguarded at all times. However, employees have no right of privacy regarding any data or content on the Company's information and communication systems, or in the event of alleged misconduct or wrongdoing. The Company reserves the right to take all steps necessary to enforce the Code to protect its employee and work environment.
- 4.3.2. Examples of guidelines to protect confidential information include, but are not limited to:
- 4.3.3. Disclosure of Confidential information for authorized business purposes that is consistent with Company policies.
- 4.3.4. Access and view of confidential information for appropriate business reasons only.
- 4.3.5. Discussion of Confidential information with other employees or third-parties should be on a "need to know" basis.
- 4.3.6. System passwords and access codes are to be safeguarded and not shared.
- 4.3.7. Confidentiality agreements should be signed by employees, consultants and contract employees, and by third-party vendors engaging in Company business as appropriate.

4.3.8. Company or client information must not be discussed or disclosed to the media without proper authorization from senior management -- this includes social media and non-Company sponsored public forums.

4.3.9. Making unauthorized copies of confidential information or copyrighted, trademarked, patented or proprietary materials is prohibited.

4.4. CONFLICTS of INTEREST:

4.4.1. IBEX Global Solutions strives to prevent conflicts of interest and any appearance of a conflict of interest to protect the integrity of its business. Typically, a conflict of interest is a situation or arrangement that may exist when an employee's personal interest interferes, or appears to interfere, with the interests of the Company or the Company's client(s). Employees are expected to use good judgment in making business decisions that are in the best interest of the Company based on sound business principles that are not motivated by personal gain. An employee's family members and/or close personal friends should not receive improper benefits as a result of the employee's position in the Company.

4.4.2. Employees have a duty of loyalty to the Company and should not engage in any activity that is in conflict with the Company. Employees are not permitted to work simultaneously for the Company and a competitor, a client or a supplier. Employees are not allowed to work for a competitor as a contractor, consultant or board member. Employees may not participate in any activity that enhances a competitor's position in the marketplace.

4.5. GIFTS and HOSPITALITY:

4.5.1. IBEX Global Solutions recognizes that the giving and accepting of gifts, entertainment and hospitality can be part of building normal business relationships. This practice can vary significantly among the various geographical locations in which the Company does business. However, regardless of local laws and customs, some gifts and hospitality may lead to the suggestion that an improper influence has been asserted either on or by the Company, or that a conflict of interest has arisen. In some instances, the giving and/or receiving of gifts and entertainment can be interpreted as a bribe, which is unlawful, damages the reputation of IBEX Global, and can lead to criminal prosecution for those individuals involved as well as the Company. Bribery is strictly illegal under the laws applicable to the Company, without exception. Violation of the rules regulating gifts and hospitality must and will result in punishment. The aim of the Company is to ensure that the highest standards of integrity are maintained. These standards, properly followed, prevent the appearance or reality that there was an improper motive (1) behind an offer or acceptance of a gift or hospitality, (2) of unduly influencing the recipient, or (3) on the part of the recipient in accepting it.

4.5.2. Gifts: a gift can be anything with a cash or face value, such as a bottle of wine or tickets to an event where the giver/host is not present. You are permitted to give or accept gifts of negligible value. For the purposes of this policy, a gift will be treated as having negligible value if (a) it has a face value (including tax) of

USD$150.00 (or equivalent amount in applicable local currency) or less, and (b) it is customary to give or receive such a gift in the ordinary course of business. Employees are not attempt to split a gift in order to reduce its face value in order to bring it within this exception. If an employee is offered a gift that falls outside of this exception it must be politely but firmly refused. If the employee reasonably considers that acceptance would be in the best interest of the Company (for example, because refusal or return of a gift would cause serious offense), the employee is to seek the prior written consent of the General Counsel before accepting the gift. Such consent will only be given when the General Counsel concludes that the gift would not be mistaken for an inducement. In such circumstances the gift must be acknowledged on behalf of the Company, noted on the register of gifts and hospitality that is maintained by the General Counsel, and the gift may not be put to private use by the recipient. An employee may never give or accept a gift of cash, regardless of the amount. Gifts offered to relatives or friends of an employee by a third party must always be refused, regardless of their value, if the gift is motivated by the employee's position with the Company. Employees should never offer a gift to the friends or relatives of any third party during the course of employment or in carrying out duties for the Company, if the gift is related to a benefit the employee seeks for the Company.

4.5.3. Hospitality and Entertainment: hospitality or entertainment involves attendance at an event where the host is present. The policy applies whether IBEX Global Solutions is the host or the guest. If the host is not present, attendance at an event must be considered a gift. An employee is permitted to give or accept corporate hospitality of negligible value. For the purposes of this policy, entertainment or hospitality will be treated as having negligible value if it has a face value (including tax) of USD$150.00 (or equivalent amount in applicable local currency) or less per person, and it is customary to give or receive such hospitality in the ordinary course of business. Examples of acceptable hospitality and entertainment are (subject to the monetary limit) dining out or tickets to a sporting event, theatre or music concert. If an employee is offered entertainment or hospitality that falls outside of this exception the employee must, politely but firmly, refuse. If acceptance would be in the best interest of the Company (for example, because the refusal of hospitality would cause serious offense), the employee should seek the prior written consent of the General Counsel before accepting the invitation. Such consent will only be given when the General Counsel concludes that the entertainment or hospitality would not be mistaken for an inducement. In such circumstances the hospitality must be acknowledged on behalf of the Company and noted on the register of gifts and hospitality. Hospitality or entertainment offered with improper intent to relatives or friends of an employee by a third party must always be refused, regardless of their value, and an employee should never offer a gift with improper intent to the friends or relatives of any third party during the course of employment or in carrying out duties of the Company.

4.5.4. Government Officials: Provision of gifts, hospitality or entertainment with improper intent to a government official is prohibited, and may be considered a bribe unless prior authorisation is obtained from the General Counsel, who will determine whether the proposed activity is permissible under applicable laws.

- 4.5.5. Register of Gifts and Hospitality: All gifts and/or hospitality which are not automatically acceptable under this Code should be recorded in the Register of Gifts and Hospitality and signed by the employee's line manager. The Register of Gifts and Hospitality is kept by the General Counsel.

4.6. ANTI-CORRUPTION POLICY and the FOREIGN CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT:

- 4.6.1. IBEX Global Solutions requires all its employees to act honestly and with integrity at all times. The Company will not tolerate any employee, consultant or contractor being involved in any bribery or corruption, and is committed to complying with applicable anti-corruption laws in all countries in which the Company conducts business, including (without limitation) the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act 1977 and the UK Bribery Act 2010. Due to their serious nature, the Company maintains separate policies on these requirements, in addition to this Code of Conduct & Ethics. The Company requires adherence to all policies under all circumstances. All such potential violations must be reported (see Duty to Act) and will be promptly and thoroughly investigated and dealt with appropriately. All matters will be dealt with in confidence and in accordance with applicable laws that protect legitimate personal interests of Employees. The Company will cooperate fully with law enforcement in the case of criminal investigations. Consequences of violations are severe and can include dismissal from employment, fines and imprisonment.
- 4.6.2. Questions and further information about Gifts and Hospitality, Anti-Corruption or Bribery and reports of suspicion of non-compliance should be directed immediately to the General Counsel.

4.7. INSIDER TRADING:

- 4.7.1. Employees who have access to confidential business and financial information are prohibited from using or sharing that information for stock trading purposes or for any purpose other than to conduct the Company's business. Nonpublic information about the Company is confidential and is not to be used for personal gain. Employees cannot trade securities or 'tip' others to trade securities of IBEX Global on the basis of confidential or material information before it is made public by the Company. Confidential and material information may include knowledge of acquisitions, investments, new business or client relationships, financial information, management changes or other information that may have bearing on the price of the Company's stock. Questions or concerns should be directed to the General Counsel or the Chief Financial Officer.

4.8. FAIR DEALING and COMPETITION:

- 4.8.1. The Company believes in outperforming our competition fairly and honestly with integrity. Our services are sold based on our reputation and high quality performance to our clients. Each employee should respect the rights of and deal fairly with the Company's clients and their customers, our suppliers, competitors and other employees. We are compliant with anti-trust laws and do not share pricing or business terms with competitors or others, unless on a "need to know" basis. We do not take advantage of anyone through the use of manipulation, concealment, or abuse of privileged information or any unfair-dealing business practices.

4.9. PROTECTION and PROPER USE of COMPANY RECORDS and ASSETS:

- 4.9.1. The Company requires proper, honest, complete and accurate recording of information and the retention of documents in accordance with applicable laws. Financial records must conform to applicable laws, accounting principles, internal controls and Company policies. True and accurate financial information is to be reported. Only legitimate expenses are to be submitted by employees for approval in accordance with Company policies. Hours worked by employees must be reported accurately and approved in compliance with timekeeping regulations. Employee information records must be maintained in accordance with legal requirements and protected with proper safeguards. Business records, information, liabilities and assets are properly accounted for and maintained with appropriate confidentiality. Employees are obligated to bring to the attention of the General Counsel or the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors any information concerning any suspected fraud, material violation or significant deficiencies in financial reporting.
- 4.9.2. Company property, including Company funds, intellectual property, trademarks and logos, supplies, equipment, computers, networks, software, telephone and internet services, voice mail and email, requires proper use. Employees should endeavor to protect the Company's assets and ensure efficient business usage. Company property and resources are to be used only for lawful and appropriate business purposes. We take seriously the trust of our clients, and we safeguard their information and their customers' information. We require that such information not be used inappropriately or for personal gain.

4.10. COMMUNITY and MEDIA RELATIONS:

- 4.10.1. IBEX Global Solutions is proud to support the communities in which it operates around the world. We believe that being a good citizen in the communities where we do business improves the quality of life of our employees and their families. Our employees engage in a variety of charitable and civic opportunities. We comply with local laws and regulations regarding our facilities and believe in protecting our environment through recycling, automation to reduce paper usage, and reduced energy usage.
- 4.10.2. In the best interest of the Company and our employees, all media inquiries should be referred to the Chief Sales and Marketing Officer to ensure accuracy, appropriate context, and the right timing of messages about our business. Employees should refrain from responding to outside requests for information and avoid speaking on behalf of the Company unless authorized by the CEO or the Chief Sales and Marketing Officer.

4.11. COMPLAINT PROCEDURES and the DIRECT DIALOGUE PROGRAM:

- 4.11.1. At our Company, the door is always open for communication. IBEX Global endorses an 'open door' philosophy to ensure a positive, respectful and open environment that encourages the open and honest exchange of communications. The Company believes in the benefits gained from the talents of a diverse population of employees who provide their thoughts, concerns and ideas. However, even with attempts to settle issues of employees with direct supervisors, we recognize that there are times that require a more defined process to ensure fairness and equity and full understanding. The Direct Dialogue Program (DDP) was created for the purpose of providing a formal path of mediation for employees to ensure positive outcomes. Employees agree to use this method at the time of their employment.

4.11.2. There are times when an employee wishes to express a concern or complaint in person or anonymously which can be done contacting:

4.11.3. Manager or Human Resources

4.11.4. Conduct and Ethics Hotline – phone lines are posted in all sites in each country

4.11.5. Email to: concerns@IBEXGlobal.com

4.11.6. In addition to the DDP, there are posters on bulletin boards, break rooms and various places in each site to ensure employees are aware of these methods to ensure their voice can be heard. We value open communication with our employees so we can treat each other, as well as our clients and their customers, with dignity and respect. Employees are encouraged to report misconduct, perceived or actual non-compliance with this Code, or ill-treatment of any kind, including discrimination, bullying or harassment, through these methods. The Company commits to thorough and swift investigation followed by appropriate actions. Employees reporting such actions in good faith are protected by the Company from retaliation.

4.12. COMPLIANCE to the CODE and the DUTY to ACT:

4.12.1. We have a responsibility to prevent actions that may be harmful to our employees, our clients and their customers, our business and our reputation. If an employee becomes aware of a violation of the Code or other company policies, they have a 'duty to act'. Employees must disclose any activity that has the appearance of or is viewed as unethical or inappropriate to their manager, Human Resources, or the General Counsel as appropriate. Behaviors that are perceived or known to involve dishonesty, fraud, misappropriation of funds or Company assets, impropriety in managing information or financial records (including unauthorized destruction of records, misuse or 4.12.2. deliberate destruction of property), or the inappropriate treatment of employees must be reported. It is the responsibility of each employee to follow the Global Code of Conduct and Ethics and related policies of the Company to ensure a safe, productive and positive work environment.

5. Enforcement

5.1. Progressive Counseling Matrix

Level Of Infraction	1st Instance	2nd Instance	3rd Instance	4th Instance
MINOR	Verbal Warning	Written Warning	Final Written Warning	Dismissal
MAJOR	Written Warning	Final Written Warning	Dismissal
GRAVE	Final Written Warning	Dismissal
EXTREME	Dismissal

5.2. Prescriptive Period

5.2.1. A prescriptive period or prescription period refers to a specified time frame within which the Corrective Action may progress to the next level if the same infraction is committed.

5.2.2. The employee may also be disqualified from certain rewards, incentives, movements or promotions during this period.

Level Of Infraction	Prescriptive Period
Verbal Warning	3 months
Written Warning	6 months
Final Warning	12 months

5.3. Corrective Action (CA)

5.3.1. For every infraction, a Corrective Action is issued depending on the level of infraction, past instances of the same violation, and prescriptive period of the last Corrective Action for the same violation.

5.3.2. Minor Offenses are issued a Verbal Warning on the 1st instance. If the same violation is committed within 3 months from the Verbal Warning, the Corrective Action progresses to a Written Warning. If the same violation is again committed within 6 months from the Written Warning, a Final Warning is issued. And if the same violation is committed within 12 months from the Final Warning, the employee will be subject to an Administrative Investigation, and may be issued a Corrective Action of Dismissal / Termination of Employment.

5.3.3. Major Offenses are issued a Written Warning on the 1st instance. If the same violation is committed within 6 months from the Written Warning, a Final Warning is issued. And if the same violation is committed within 12 months from the Final Warning, the employee will be subject to an Administrative Investigation, and may be issued a Corrective Action of Dismissal / Termination of Employment.

5.3.4. Grave Offenses are issued a Final Warning on the 1st instance. If the same violation is committed within 12 months from the Final Warning, the employee will be subject to an Administrative Investigation, and may be issued a Corrective Action of Dismissal / Termination of Employment.

5.3.5. Extreme Offenses are immediately subject to an Administrative Investigation, and the employee may be issued a Corrective Action of Dismissal / Termination of Employment.

5.4. Exoneration

5.4.1. If an employee is found NOT guilty of the alleged infraction after an Administrative Investigation, he/she shall be formally issued a Decision Notice exonerating him/her from the allegation.

5.4.2. If the employee was on Preventive Suspension while being investigated and later on exonerated, he/she shall be paid for the days he/she was on PS (excluding scheduled Rest Days).

5.5. Mitigation

5.5.1. If an employee is found guilty but is given another chance, the penalty may be mitigated from Termination of Employment to a Final Warning.

5.5.2. The mitigated penalty may also include an unpaid Suspension on top of the Final Warning.

5.5.3. If the employee was on Preventive Suspension during the investigation, was found guilty and was issued a Final Warning, the days on Preventive Suspension shall be considered actual suspension and is considered unpaid.

5.6. Cleansing Period

5.6.1. If an employee is able to complete the Prescription Period of the last Corrective Action without further violations, the Corrective Action is considered cleansed and shall no longer be taken against the employee.

5.7. Documentation

5.7.1. All violations must be documented and issued the necessary Corrective Action.

5.7.2. Counseling Through Inspire:

5.7.2.1. All infractions/violations, with their corresponding Corrective Actions, must be documented in Inspire by the recipient employee's immediate superior.

5.7.2.2. A coaching session must be conducted to discuss the details of the violation, corrective action, and action plans. The issuing employee must ensure that the document is presented and discussed to the recipient employee for the latter to acknowledge.

5.7.2.3. The recipient employee then acknowledges the CA through Inspire. Note that failure of the recipient employee to acknowledge the CA after it has been transferred to his/her queue, whether willful or due to neglect, shall not invalidate the CA.

5.7.3. Counseling Form:

- 5.7.3.1. If in case the recipient employee or his/her superior does not have access to Inspire for whatever reason, the infraction and corrective action may still be documented through paper, with the necessary signatories, discussed through a coaching session, and received and signed by the recipient employee. 1 copy stays with the employee, another one is transmitted to HR, and the issuing employee may keep 1 for his/her record.
- 5.7.3.2. Emails may also be utilized for documenting violations and issuing corrective action provided the issuing and recipient employee are using the official ibex corporate mailbox.
