IBEX GLOBAL HUMAN RESOURCES Employee Handbook – United States – Confidential & Proprietary

Policies are compliant with local, state and federal regulations and laws, where applicable; Legal requirements take precedence. Policies may be added, deleted or changed at any time. Although every effort will be made to provide notice to all Employees of such actions, it is each Employee's responsibility to maintain understanding of current policies posted in the on-line Employee Handbook. HR Team Members are available for questions and interpretation if needed.

1. Purpose

Ibex strives to attract, hire and retain the most qualified and talented employees to effectively achieve our business goals, therefore, Background Investigations are a critical aspect of hiring decisions. Successfully passing designated background checks is required for qualified job applicants who are considered for employment to evaluate whether applicants can effectively perform job duties and to protect our employees, property, clients and customers' information, and internal business information. The Policy is designed to ensure a fair, equitable, legally compliant and consistent approach in the application of all Background Investigations and application of results.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all ibex employees and third-party vendors and supplier within the US locations.

3. Roles and Responsibilities

Role	Responsibility
Recruiter	Facilitate/confirm process completion Review of final reports Communication & data gathering with candidates for employment
HR Compliance	Review & final disposition of flagged background reports Communication with vendor

4. Eligibility

Background checks are required for all US New Hires and Rehires, as described below, and in some cases Internal Transfers and Promotions, or for Active Employees within all Ibex locations. Ibex may adhere to additional requirements if stated in client contracts. In such cases where the Background Check requirement is greater than Company policy, the client contracts supersede.

- New Hires are individuals who are offered employment with Ibex for the first time.
- Rehires are employees who left the Company in good standing and are rehired at some point after separation. If employees are rehired within 31 days of separation, new Background Checks are not required but may be performed at the Company's discretion.
- Transfers and Promotions are employees who may move from one site, position or job level to another where a new/current background check may be required if the original background check does not meet the requirements of the new position they are moving to.
- Background Checks may also be done on Active Employees at any time during their employment.

5. Policy Provisions

- Types of Background Investigations: Background Investigations may include, but is not limited to, social security verification, criminal history searches, fingerprinting, sex offender registry, credit history, education verification, employment verification, reference checks, and motor vehicle reports. Call Center and designated management employees associated with client information may also be subject to client specific background check requirements. Employees in Human Resources, IT, and Finance who have access to confidential information such as employee data and company financial data may also be required to pass specific credit background checks. Motor vehicle checks may be done for employees involving the operation of Company provided or authorized vehicles. Criminal Background Checks typically includes local, state, and federal resources and are conducted through a third-party vendor.
- Authorization to Conduct Background Investigations: Prospective and current employees must agree in advance to the investigations required for Background Checks by signing their understanding and authorization to complete related investigations. Although certain Background Checks may be required of all individuals before hire, the Company reserves the right to conduct Background Checks on active employees at any time during employment, within legally approved standards, to ensure compliance with the Background Investigations Policy.
- Disclosure: The Company requires current employees to notify Human Resources immediately of any criminal charges or convictions, whether felony or misdemeanor, that occurs after their hire and during their employment with the Company ("New Developments"). IBEX shall individually assess potential risks and liabilities related to New Developments to determine if said employee remains eligible to perform their current job. Failure to do so may result in separation from employment and ineligibility for rehire.
- Pending Results: Ibex may delay the start date for a position until after the results of the background check have been received and reviewed. Additionally, when relevant to the position and in accordance with the state and local law, Ibex may delay making a final offer or make a decision not to hire applicants, or suspend current employees, who have pending criminal charges.
- Confidentiality: The information obtained through background checks is confidential and will only be shared with individuals with an essential business need to know. Background check records are maintained separately from the employee personnel files.
- Evaluation of Background Check Results: Upon receipt of the completed background check, the Company will review and make a final hiring decision based upon the information gathered.
- Pre-Adverse and Adverse Action: If negative information is obtained through the background check process, Ibex will consider details such as the nature of the offense or the substance of the information, when the action occurred, and whether the information is job related. Prior to rendering any final decision not to hire, to delay hiring or not to promote a candidate based on the results of a background check, the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) requirements will be handled by Recruiting and Human Resources in conjunction with the background screening service.

6. Enforcement

Compliance with the Policy is expected. Any employee who manipulates or attempts to manipulate use of the Policy or related documentation for personal benefit will be subject to corrective action up to and including termination of employment.
